NYC Sensation PUi Unveils New Details about Tomorrow's Video Filming Stunt in Midtown Manhattan

New York City natives PUi, known for independently selling out venues in New York City and putting on electrifying performances, are getting ready to be filmed for their brand new music video for the single 'Army Of Slaves' which is being re-recorded independent of a set release specifically for the video. A brand new video featuring vocalist/guitarist Prince Nazimcan Shuva has surfaced outlining details about the filming of the video, the idea behind the fan filming, and more. The video unveils details about the date and time of the stunt, which can now be revealed as October 6th at 12:30pm, somewhere in Midtown Manhattan, NYC. More details about the location will be revealed to the world at 11am ET tomorrow morning on all of PUi's social media sites and www.hearseespeaknoevil.com.

The band is making it up to you, the fans, to direct their music video. There will be no cameramen hired by the band. All fans have to do is check back with the website periodically for details and show up with a camera when the information is released, ready to film. The best footage submitted to PUicontact@gmail.com will be PUi's first ever music video.

PUI released an EP in January 2010 entitled, You Will Clap, which is available for purchase now on iTunes. The EP was recorded at Underground Studios and was produced by band members Shuva and Brian Hosey. It is mixed by Kyle Kelso and mastered by Howie Weinberg. The band plans on releasing a new full-length album within the next year, entitled Neo-Primal.
